

Beach Bye-laws

Wexford County Council's current (2021) Beach Bye-laws came into effect on 1 June 2022 and apply throughout the year. The bye-laws apply to 35 areas in the county, eight of which are located on the South Wexford Coast (Figure 1). While called 'beach' bye-laws, in some cases, the bye-laws apply to the adjoining land as well as to a specified beach. The bye-laws detail lists of "prohibited acts" including, lighting fires, damaging the dunes, littering, causing nuisance, riding motorcycles, quads or other off-road vehicles, camping, trading, etc. (pages 4-5), horses (page 5), dogs and personal watercraft (pages 6-7), and filming (page 7). A person who contravenes the bye-laws is liable to an on-the-spot-fine for a simple breach or a more significant fine on summary conviction (pages 8-9). Breaches of the bye-laws should be reported to the Environment Department of Wexford County Council in any of the following four ways:-

- by 'phone to 053 919 6000, 9am-5pm, Monday to Friday (except Public Holidays and Good Friday),
- by email to customerservice@wexfordcoco.ie,
- by use of their online Environment Complaint Form at https://wexford-self.achieveservice.com/service/Environment_Report_Illegal_Dumping, or
- by letter to Environment Department, Wexford County Council, County Hall, Carricklawn, Wexford, Y35 WY93.

The eight sites on the South Wexford Coast listed in Schedule 1 of the bye-laws are:- (1) Baginbun, (2) Fethard (aka Grange), (3) Cullenstown, (4) Ballyteigue, (5) Ballyhealy, (6) Tacumshin, (7) Lady's Island (including Rostoonstown), and (8) Carnsore Point. The locations of these eight sites are indicated (Figure 1) and are detailed individually below, from west (1) to east (8) as copied and pasted from the original source.
